Loxcreen Flooring Group - Expansion of manufacturing and warehouse facilities

Mississauga, ON: The Loxcreen Flooring Group, the leading supplier of trims and installation accessories in North America, is expanding its facilities. The business has seen steady growth in its market with countless new products that have been added over the last few years. This growth has necessitated the construction of a new warehouse addition to the main Canadian facility in Mississauga (ground was broken on the 35,000 square foot high cube warehouse on July 11, 2011) as well as an expansion and re-organization of storage capabilities in the US facility in Hayti Missouri (completed last year).

The additional space will enable the company to continue to provide its superior service levels to its entire customer base by allowing for increased levels of inventory of its broad selection of products.

The entire Loxcreen team is excited about the expansion and the opportunities created both within the local communities as well as the markets they serve. A senior Loxcreen executive expressed that the companies' commitment to the flooring industry is solidified by the investments being undertaken. "This expansion, the new ERP system we are implementing and the leaned out manufacturing floor plan we are rolling out will insure that we are at the leading edge of known technologies while we continue to pursue new, proprietary technologies for both our processes and our products. The fact that our business model is unique to the industry is an advantage to our customer base as they look to successfully consolidate vendors. Our strong roots in aluminum and vinyl extrusion as well as our in-depth knowledge of the industry means that we are constantly updating our offering with the most recent product trends. The newest colours, profiles, and installation systems can all be found within the Loxcreen Flooring Group's family of products".

The Loxcreen Flooring Group and its brands (Bengard, Shur-Trim, Dura-Trim, Loxcreen Flooring Accessories and KinTrim) have been successfully providing flooring accessories in North America for over five decades. We have been focused on customer service since the beginning. It is true that we have the broadest assortment of accessory products in the industry. It is also true that we have a history of order fulfillment and customer satisfaction that is recognized as an industry leader. We are proud of the fact that we bring new and exciting products to market well in advance of others, as well as providing the basic products that are used everyday. Our success is really based on the exceptional customer service provided by our associates and the strong customer relationships that have been solidified over the years as a result.
